Sai Mission

SSSIE e-Newsletter - August 2021

'Krishyati iti Krishnah' - the one who cultivates is Krishna, says our beloved Bhagawan Sai Krishna. Lord Krishna took Avatar on this planet earth to cultivate the field of hearts. We get bounteous growth of plants and crops on a field that is cultivated thoroughly. In the same way, when our heart is cultivated through love and affection for Lord Krishna, He showers on us bounteous spiritual growth and takes us to reach the state of 'Aham Brahmasmi'. In the war field of Kurushetra, when Arjuna surrendered at His Divine Lotus Feet, he gave birth to the eternal Bhagawad Geetha. When we surrender unto His Divine Lotus Feet during situations of calamity and difficulty, the Geetha for our life and welfare will be manifested to solve all our problems and revive our spiritual enthusiasm. Come, Let's not wait even a single second wasting the precious life in mundane activities. Let us get into Sai Mission and make our life His Vision! - Team Sai Mission

SRI SATHYA SAI UVACHA

What is the real wealth we must earn, right now? Bhagawan lovingly reminds us.

The only wealth that you can carry with yourself after death is love for God. So strive to earn that wealth during your living moments earnestly. You can easily accomplish it with pure loving devotion. To earn it, you must dedicate your time, body and actions to serve the Lord. This was what Arjuna understood after listening to the Gita from Lord Krishna. Arjuna, who was an exceptionally intelligent person, after all his arguments with Krishna, finally came to this conclusion and submitted, "Karishye vachanam tava (I shall carry out whatever You say)". People should depend not on their physical or intellectual strength, but on the power of God. Only the one who relies solely on the power of God can experience true peace and bliss. Such a person need not mind the criticisms of others. They can defy the opinions of a multitude of persons and stand up for what they hold to be true. Unmindful of praise or censure, you have to cultivate firm faith in God. No higher God than the mother.'

- Bhagawan's Divine Message

Gratitude to God is prayer. We have to offer gratitude for all that He has blessed us with. When your kerchief falls down and somebody picks it up and gives it to you, you say, "Thanks". It is not his kerchief that he has given, it is your kerchief; even then why do you offer thanks? That is gratitude. Similarly, God created the five elements and because of these five elements man can live in the world. What are we offering to the five elements? We are not giving anything to them. Nobody gives anything to them. The theist, the atheist or the atheistic theist, no one gives anything. Nobody knows anything about this. An atheist can say that there is no God, but he cannot say that there are no elements. – Bhagawan Sri Sathya Sai Baba

HIS MISSION – MY VISION

Mrs. SAI LAKSHMI, PRT (Sanskrit), SSS Balvikas Alumna

Sa + Aai = SAI - Divine Mother and Father for everyone in the universe. I am a blessed child to be born in a Sai fold family. I thank my parents for introducing me to my Divine Mother and Father. Being a middle class family member, everything is planned within the society's drawn boundaries. But, my ambitions and dreams never felt these boundaries. In my struggle to achieve my ambitions, I have experienced positive energy which always helped me to choose the right path that swami always guided me.

Everything in life happens with His will. I am here to share my childhood experience. Every year our summer holidays used to be memorable in Puttaparthi enjoying Swami's nearness and dearness. When I travel down my memory lanes, I cherish those moments till day having Darshan and Sparshan of Swami.

I remember on one of our trips to Puttaparthi during holidays, we saw swami receiving letters from devotees. The same wish arose in my mind to write a letter to Swami and appeal things. In that instance, my prayers were answered by taking my letter. From that moment, I had a habit of praying to swami and writing letters started at a tender age. The belief was sowed deep into my heart.

After Swami's Samadhi, the habit of writing letters came down. But for the past one year, the sudden drift of life has made things go topsy turvy. I started writing a letter on 31st August, 2020 to my Sai Maa again. Slowly the intensity of prayers grew stronger and stronger day by day. I was continuing till 22nd December, 2020 without leaving a day without writing a letter. Slowly, I was able to see the changes happening in my life. I saw swami holding my hand and guiding each moment. My prayers were being answered. I prayed Swami to make me a mere instrument in his hands doing His Mission. That moment came true, when I was called for an interview from our school.

The Entrance of our School gave me a serene environment resembling Puttaparthi. Listening to my favourite bhajan, 'Hey Shyama Sundaraa Hey Sai Sundara...' played in the school kitchen, made me feel the Divine presence of Swami along with me. Till day, I am able to feel the same Divinity whenever I enter the school premises and it makes me glad to be a Swami's mere instrument. Sairam.

Saints of BHARATH

SAINT PUSALAR

Pusalar was a saint belonging to Tiru Ninravur in Thondai Mandalam, Tamil Nadu. He excelled in the mental worship of the Lord. Mental worship is thousands of times better than external ritualistic worship: mental worship soon leads to Samadhi (superconscious state) and Self-realization. He strongly desired to build a temple for Lord Siva, but he did not have the money for it. So, mentally he gathered the necessary materials for the purpose. He laid the foundation stone on an auspicious day. He raised the temple and had even fixed an auspicious day for the installation of the deity in it.

The Kadava king who was also a great devotee of Lord Siva had built a magnificent temple in Conjeevaram. By chance he had also fixed the date which Pusalar had mentally chosen, for the installation of the Lord in his temple. The Lord wanted to show the king the superiority of Pusalar's great devotion. So, the Lord appeared in the king's dream and asked him to postpone the installation ceremony in his temple, as He would be going to the temple constructed by His devotee at Tiru Ninravur. The king woke up from sleep and was intensely eager to have the Darshan of the devotee mentioned by the Lord and also have a look at the great temple he had built, which he thought would be far superior to his temple.

The king came to Tiruninravur and searched all over the place for the temple: he could not find any. Then the king enquired about Pusalar. He found out Pusalar's house and approached him. Pusalar was stunned when he heard of the king's dream. Soon, he recovered and was filled with joy. He thought: 'How kind and merciful is the Lord. I am only a wretched creature and He has accepted my mental shrine as His Abode. I am really blessed.' He told the king that that temple was only in his mind. The king was greatly surprised to hear this. Admiring Pusalar's devotion, the king fell at his feet and worshipped him. Pusalar installed the Lord in his mental temple and continued to worship Him till he attained His Abode.
